12/10 10:05 AM RALPH

More comments on the STAR TREK movie: As of today I have seen the movie five times (5)!!! I am attempting to evaluate each scene & observe the film for detail now. It is true the ~~ending~~ ~~drag~~ V'GER encounter drags along and V'GER was predictable to anyone who was familiar with the show. But it was still a damn good movie. Granted it could have been a lot better but the critics really tore it apart. Both Newsday & the Daily News gave it $2\frac{1}{2}$ stars. I think that's what they gave Buck Rogers (OH! I think I'm about to vomit). Once again the STAR TREK FAN is isolated from the media establishment. I'm afraid if the movie is badmouthed too much it will become a cult film. I just hope that there are enough fans out there to give Paramount a good enough profit to make another movie. I can already see what their executives' puny little minds ~~are~~ ^{are} grinding out after these bad reviews. We must not let them stop STAR TREK HERE, HARK!

Even if you didn't like the first film, there is tremendous potential for movies to follow. This movie suffered the pains of a rebirth for STAR TREK. I have no doubt in my ~~own~~ mind that a second movie will be better than the first. The Enterprise has been put back into space and it's our duty as fans to keep it there. So all of you people go back & see that movie again and another time after that for good measure.

Looking around the science fiction movie field I see no other movie that offers the same hopeful and grand view of humanity, in the coming ^{era} of the Space Shuttle additional STAR TREK MOVIES will serve as an inspiration.

This is my first entry in some time & as I am trying to keep my log space to a minimum, it will be brief. First: forum business - I will not be at the meeting tonight; I will be at the L.B.H. Drunk on Wednesday as it better take place!

Second: Personal messages -

Howard - you couldn't be more of a complete asshole if you tried (doubtless that you do!).

Carol - take heart, O lonely computeress, & do not be depressed. DO NOT even consider Howard's Fourth Howard's offer (as per the above stated reason)! Friendship & Christianity help abound. Also, my name is EVERARD with an ARD not an ETT (to make things simple call me Ev), but do I forgive you.

P.S. There are no problems that serious. I am, of course, DEERIOUS DEERIOUS

Louis - why don't just go FUCK OFF!

I liked the movie.

Ralph - I agree.

Joe R., Will, Ralph - see Joe B. or myself about writing utensils.

Third: Goodbye.

Goodbye.

P.S. Joe B. should be commissioned for his artwork & my entry is too long.

Ralph:

I'll say it again:

Optimism and Pessimism are both crazy, both the same ~~the~~ disease. Both involve assuming something without evidence.

I personally, think it's best to be realistic (recognizing that this is different from pessimism). It is realistic to assert that ~~over~~ to some extent what we want to happen will happen: i.e. if enough people ~~to~~ believe ~~in the that~~ ~~a pro~~ that we ^{should} ~~will~~ go into space, we will go into space.

Bill:

Your poli-sci entry was one of the most interesting things in the logbook recently.

Incidentally, since "man" is a word with two meanings (at least) one of which being "a member of the human race" it ~~is~~ (that is, as Joanna Russ put it, there are "male men" and "female men") then it is probably correct to address the members of the forum as "gentlemen", that is, assuming that we are all members of the human race.

But perhaps I misunderstood Perianne's argument. Was she claiming that female's aren't gentle?

I don't even notice the capitalization here, I read it the first time Perranne doesn't seem to know that English, the general form is identical with the male.

Joe: While the term "Man" has been defined as referring to the human species, the word "man" refers specifically to a male person. I object to use of such sexist terms as "man" in referring to men and women. They help to strengthen the prevalent stereotypical views of the male. Next time you quote someone, you may not live to tell I'll sic George on you.

a: You are the only person I miss meetings over when we party. What is the L.B.M. Well, it's dinner time now. See tonight.

CAROL: NEVER was it my intent to suggest suicide as a viable alternative. If any one thinks I did, they just weren't thinking. Please remember, "The human adventure is just beginning"! The rougher life gets, the greater the better the chance for a human being to have pride in living. How about

I buy you a 1/2 gallon of chocolate marshmallow walnut ice cream the next you don't feel so lousy?

PERRIANNE: I agree. Sexism is bigotry of the worse sort. As a kzin once remarked, a ~~too~~ race having two sentient genders must have an interesting time of it.

BILL: Joe is right, in that your pol.-sci entry was interesting. More importantly, what was your point? NOW CAN YOU SAY IT WAS INTERESTING
IF YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT IT'S ABOUT?
ASSHOLE...

????? Thank you whenever you be, for returning my property. I have great need of it.

I agree with most of what Ralph and Perrianne said about STARTRAK. I'm not worried about it being a success because there are millions of people who are like Ralph who have seen it 5 times already. I just hope that Paramount won't be greedy and listen to the press instead of the people. Prediction: In about a month (maybe 2) the press will change their opinion. [Spock is pronounced: Spock with the ch as in chutzpah]

Those of you who are constant and alert readers may have noticed that there is no "Philosopher's Corner" this week. When confronted with this fact the author of that distinguished column, Mr. Markowitz, said, "Sorry guy, I forgot." Well, maybe next month, Mike.

Thank you Lisa + Fred. Have a happy Winter Solstice.

Howard - That sounds like a good cure! (And anyone who offers to buy that much ice cream for someone can't be so bad as the "remarks to the tune" as you say.)

EV - Thanks for the encouragement! (A thousand pardons for the misspelling!) But, when you're failing Chem, Calculus, and History (135) you get very, very depressed. I begin to wonder what the hell I'm going to do with my life. But enough of my problems...

BOO!

I thought the plot of Star Trek was AWFUL. We should write to Roddenberry + Foster + complain. (I'm serious.)

Yea... the following shall be known to be the First Word of Joe Schipper ever to be inscribed in Yeower Booke of the Logge:

Schipper's Natural Law #1: Star Trek Lives... yes, but only for the 14 year olds lost between the choices of a fine, prosperous, and fruitful life of Science fiction (cum dash of Fantasy), OR a life of Disco, Homosexuality, and "Battlescar Disgustica", "Fuck Blowers", and "Last in Place". AMEN.

FUCK YOU, JOE.

How about "Nude Children?"

Alldom: "I, Robert", "Ringworm", "Nude", "Nude Masseurs", "Children of Nude", "S+M Star Wars Whipping Cream", "Fermentation", "Fermentation and the Empire (strikes Back)", "Second Fermentation", "Star Soars", and of course... Earthseala K. Penguin's "The Limp hand Darkness", "Time Enough for Lust", "A Ranger in Islander Land",

I would just like to add that I have nothing against most of those Books which are here punned.

END PERSONAL MESSAGES.

TO ALL FORUM MEMBERS, FRIENDS, ETC, ~~LOUIS~~ ^{LOUIS TOO.}

ABOUT ~~THE~~ STAR TREK: THE MOTION PICTURE —

I have heard many complaints about the silliness, stupidity, etc. of the script. This is to all of you ~~all~~ who made such complaints, not just to me, but to anyone. I assume that you have seen the movie + have therefore paid money for such viewing privileges. All I can say to you is that you got what you paid for. You went to see a Star Trek movie and that's what you got. The movie was purely Star Trek, very good Star Trek I might add, and to have expected anything else was, and is, nothing but foolishness.

I saw the movie, enjoyed it very, very much, and was pleased with it in the spirit it was presented. You may all continue to complain but all you show is your own ignorance. I got my money's worth.

STAR TREK LIVES ON, AND ON, AND ON, AND ON, AND ON, AND ON, AND ON.

sofa in the corner, George had been out of it since about 3:00 AM.

This morning I ~~was~~ regained full consciousness at 9:45 AM. George was still out cold on the curved sofa. Margaret had left at a previous time. I proceeded upstairs at 10:00 AM, as I had promised Lisa that I would help her with a program for her MSC 100 class. oh well.

I will be amazed if I

1) finish my course project for MSC 120 by Fri. (when it's due) and

2) live to see Saturday morning. Fortunately (?) the Computer Center is open this week until 2 AM.

I bought Metamorphosis Alpha (by TSR) and have read it thru 3 times carefully. It can stand on its own. For a while. There are no experience levels. There is no characteristic of IQ, although there is "Mental Resistance".

Conclusion: This is a major D&D variant. On the back cover it says "usable with Dungeons and Dragons". However:

~~I will do one of 2~~

can do 2 things with it

1) a starships and space men scenario.

2) Taking some needed rules from Starships and space men and Chivalry and sorcery (and its supplements) and running a Metamorphosis Alpha campaign or at least long scenario.

It does have mutation rules and some very interesting mutations.

Whatever I decide will not start until mid-Inter session at the earliest.

As for Bill's entry, for those of you who need explanation, to me it seemed to be ~~just~~ simply saying that idealism and realism aren't necessarily separate, that indeed, they should be combined. (The terms suggested for different types of policy makers struck me as clumsy, though -- "entrepreneurs"?).

On the subject of the famous salutation:
I think that

1) Words mean what you want them to mean, meaning is established by context.

2) We shouldn't surrender the elegance of the language to satisfy some shakey theory of social reform.

(I like the sound of the phrase "Gentlemen". Better to shift the meaning than eliminate the symbol).

~~Carol~~ Fred - You see, all the fuss about the review was a waste of time! Stop ~~re~~ published Jack Milrad's review only. I don't know why we bothered in the first place.

Jay - Why did we bother in the first place?

Ralph - Are you or are you not going to see THE MOVIE tomorrow? I would like to go anytime is fine with me. Please let me know.

Carol - The plot was a slight disappointment but I don't think it was "awful".

Joe Schipper - You will find that we have a low tolerance for such drivel. If you have read previous log entries, you will know that Margaret has a whole slew of hungry reptiles. Also, Ralph is a large Star Trek fan. I advise you to keep these facts in mind when you write your entries in the future.

to know what I think of you, ~~please~~ ^{please} read Margaret's entry to Louis.

Thomson - "luck"; Happy holiday season.

Doc B. - I am tired of arguing about the salutation. "Gentlemen" has never included women. The salutation for men and women has always been "Ladies and Gentlemen" (as in Barnum & Bailey).

Margaret - If you bring my gift to class tomorrow morning, I can get it. I may stop by the Forum tonight or I will be in my room from about 9:20. You can stop by with it if you prefer. (Personally, I prefer "call myself.") finished Saw the movie again with Ralph today. Love it. ~~Ladies and Gentlemen~~: (or should I say Barnum + Bailey, this place is more like a circus) As Scotty would say: "Every body's entitled to their opinion." So St. Louis ~~and~~ other think that the Trek movie is as intelligent as a Denebian Shme Deal, well that's their opinion too... Of course, they like the Enterprise, they really do. They think that that ^{pusy's} rust bucket is built like a garbage scow. Half the quadrant knows it. That's why they're all learning to speak Klingonese.

But of course I think they should rephrase that, ... etc

Anyway: Louis has not really done anything terrible this year so why do you keep telling him to be faithful and multiply? Besides; everytime you look at Louis think of a vanishing species. There is very little chance that he'll be back next semester. (I think we should throw him on going away party (of course we would invite him!)) Then who will you pick on Howard? That's fighting an unarmed man (person - or Perrianne?)

→ First of all: Fred + I are the only ones who are allowed to be depressed (I don't know why but it seems evident from past entries) So whenever you feel bad give it to one of us. We're experts at it. (I don't know about Fred but I have several great ways of disposing of depression)

Second of all: Contemplating suicide can depress you. How? you may ask

There are so many ways to do it and you'd just love to try them all but of course you can only do it once. How depressing. Seriously though, I am strongly opposed to the female members committing suicide because there aren't enough female members to begin with. Note: This is not a chauvinistic statement. I personally find that the female mind and methods of thinking are usually very different from the male way of thinking and I find it very refreshing. As for male members committing suicide, uh, well... uh...

Lots of you are my good friends and I'd hate to see you go. Others of you must have other friends and they would miss you. Actually I'd miss all of you. (that includes Louis + Howard) More Later... Happy Finals All...

Will Power

When God created this man

The winds did still

There was thunder and lightning

And then there was Will.

With a smirk on his face

He began to laugh

And the world was to know

Of the Rubenrich ^WRath

"This world is boring

It isn't much fun

What it needs

Is an atrocious pun!"

And so it was known

From here to Cozum

That Will was the punster

Of the SF Forum.

But Will had troubles

Like a tumor

He couldn't find a girl

Who liked his humour.

"She bade me goodnite

And said, "Gee, you're swell"

Leaving me to wonder

About her Infinite Square Well.

But Will survived

His dreadful upset

And ~~now~~ now he is hoping

To Berkley he'll get.

 Thomas: I think Biometry is total, but don't worry. I'm sure we'll have a

Although "Ladies + gentlemen" may be the traditional form of address, there is no reason to say that "Gentlemen" is incorrect.

Also, to only take words in their "literal" meaning is to demand perfectly acceptable pieces of language such as metaphors, simile, hyperbole, etc. in which words are given meanings other than the "literal" one but still understandable ones. Surprisingly, there is little ambiguity in the forms of language.

Most embittered stem from people's lack of knowledge or misunderstanding about the language and its use. About people: we built him from a bit. Let's have.

Nothing else who needs this stuff.

Good luck, see you next year.

- a) Gentles b) Gentlefolk c) Gentle human
- d) Noble Born e) Most High honoured etc
- f) Dear friends (Sinds?) and neighbours g) people
- h) warm-blooded animals

Also, Fear! Fred is a very good singer. That is not what he was complaining about.

Kurt: when am I gonna get my poem I love you - you're a sweet heart. We had a very good time with your family, thank you for putting us up (Dana says Schöne Dank). Manganese? So. I'm a gem, am I? Well, you didn't specify what kind of gem I had

ENTRY XVIII

I seem to have arrived in the aftermath of an Ion storm. I hope no one was hurt. In any event, I'm sorry you couldn't be with Ralph and Perrienne and I when we saw the movie at Sunrise Mall in (I don't know!).

ION STORM?

or an atomic pile a 100 miles wide...

To make up for being un-successful in delaying the group that you could join us, I am perfectly willing to, at your request, take you to any theatre of your choice, even within the city (this requires my trained brother for rear-guard and heavy support).

Any particular day do you want our visitations to fall on? Would you prefer that we not visit on Christmas day, Christmas Eve, as these are days that families are usually together, and 12/19/79 non-intimate relations generally are not there out of basic convention? Would you prefer that we visit as a group?

If you set to read this entry before you go home, please respond. If you don't, it won't matter, I'll get there on Christmas Morning anyway, just to deliver my present.

The matter of the ring-bound document was not in the cartoon, but in the notes. If you disposed of the ring, you just disposed $30.00 of gold at least. Please respond in log book if you can't find me.

Dana; it's my money, to fool around with and dispose of as I please. I assure you, I expect little. If given to anyone else, they'd be jumping all over me and smother me in kisses. If I wanted that, I'd have bought several rings, wouldn't I?

most part, I'll be in my Chinatown fortified scout base, unless someone is willing to put up with me till post-intercession.

Fear not; I have handled such matters before and should have no problems; my support crew is very capable (I trained them myself) and can generally handle such a local matter;

if not, I would prefer no aid in this, as it is my problem.

If, however, I am not around next semester, let it be known that I... oh nuts! Just don't destroy my

While I kill time typing this entry up, I think... who will prepare the book #10? ~~What~~ What is everybody doing right now? I know much of my time will be occupied in genuine conflict in my neighborhood, but, for example, what is Kurt doing over the holidays? What is Jay doing? What is Linda, or for that matter, Dana doing? What of Ev. Joe. Carol. Bruce, and Marla?

And what about the female eunuchs, Perrienne and ~~Mamie~~ (Whew!) Margaret? Perhaps these and other questions will be answered at Lisa's birthday party. perhaps these and other questions will not be spoken.
